Adjustable Metal Bed Lights

Bed lamps are no longer considered a luxury, they are an economical, necessary convenience. Years of experience in making bed lamps have proven these styles to be the most satisfactory. A correct style of rigid attachment for any kind of beds. They are practical, attractive, substantial and will withstand the average abuse which they receive. These are all important features to be considered. Samples gladly submitted for trial. Be sure to indicate correct type of holder and finish.

All bed lamps attach to back of bed—no marring of the finish on the front.

For attaching to metal beds drill a $\frac{1}{8}$ " hole and use the special self-threading screw that is furnished, forcing it in and tightening it firmly, which makes a very strong, rigid attachment.

Finishes—Jap bronze is a plain dark bronze finish.

Walnut and Mahogany are grained finishes.

Special finishes to match beds made to order.

Upright arms are preferable for low head beds where a forward arm might be too low for reading and in the way for making up the beds.

Clamp attachment will fit square, graceline or $1\frac{3}{4}$ " round rail.

Fastens rigidly with two headless set screws.

Telescopic arm has a vertical adjustment of 10 inches and can be turned to either side. Ball joint for adjusting shade.

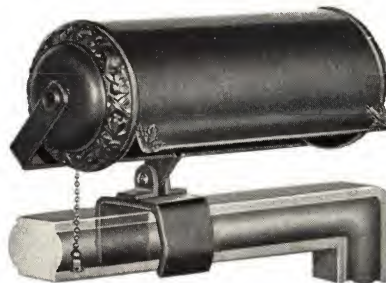

Can use either metal, parchment or silk shade.

Finish—Jap bronze, Walnut or Mahogany.

Description

Side view showing 3 joint adjustable arm used on all picture lights.

Picture frame→

Easily attached to back of picture frame. This arm makes the reflector adaptable to pictures with small narrow frames or large wide frames with extended moulding.

It also enables proper adjustment for pictures of various depths as the reflector can be raised or lowered, brought forward or back and can be adjusted to exactly the correct angle to properly light the picture.

With the exception of No. 3107, all picture lights have a mirror in the back of the shield which greatly intensifies the light, reflecting it back on to the picture.

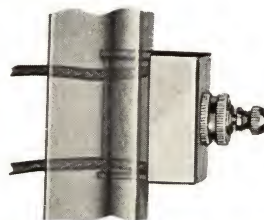

LIGHT SWITCH

Furnished only when ordered.

For use where there is no wall switch.

This turn button switch attaches to the back of the picture frame at any convenient height.

All wiring concealed behind the picture.

An exceptionally convenient means of switching the light off or on.

Wired on any picture light.....Add $1.50

LAMP BULBS

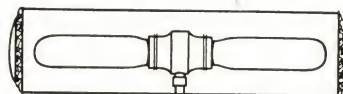

Inside view of picture reflector.

Showing position and style of bulb recommended for each of the various sizes.

Note equal distribution of light, utilizing entire length of reflector—No wasted dark ends.
